LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

CBCF CONGRESSIONAL FELLOWS PROGRAM

Sponsorship Level
$150,000 per Fellow

The CBCF Congressional Fellows Program was launched in 1976 to address disparities in Black employment on Capitol Hill. This 12-month fellowship enables participants to receive hands-on public policy training in congressional and committee offices as full-time legislative aides and policy analysts. Former and current fellows have focused on various disciplines, including education, agriculture, business, finance, environment, U.S. foreign policy, housing, labor, energy, science, technology, and health care. Your support enables CBCF congressional fellows to take part in policy briefings, roundtable discussions, seminars, and training sessions on policy and leadership.
Established in 1986, the CBCF Congressional Internship Program provides leadership and professional development opportunities to college students from across the nation. Students selected to participate in this nine-to-twelve-week program learn about the legislative process and public policy careers. Interns work in CBC member offices, participate in professional development events, and take part in leadership training development arenas. Its primary goal is to increase the pool of black leaders in community-based programs and public service careers. Participants are provided with opportunities to learn the inner workings of Congress, explore public service and public policy careers, discuss current events and policy initiatives, and get a close-up look at leadership at its very best by working with and learning from members of Congress.

Your support provides stipends, housing, and professional development for these students to work and learn as interns in the halls of Congress.

In collaboration with Congressman Steven Horsford, starting in 2016, the CBCF launched a pilot program to expand the Leadership Institute internship program to include placements in the private sector. The program “Pathways to the C-Suite” will ensure our future leaders have an opportunity to interact with senior-level business leaders, explore multifaceted business challenges and build skills to prepare them for careers in corporate America. The purpose of the CBCF private sector internship program is to leverage the CBCF’s ability to engage more undergraduate and post-graduate Black students in opportunities to experience public policy development and stakeholder engagement and influence beyond Capitol Hill. Benefits to the students will include housing, a competitive stipend, professional development courses, and networking opportunities. The primary goal is to provide internship opportunities with private sector organizations whose top priorities include diversity employment retention and internship-to-employment opportunities.

Participants are provided with opportunities to learn the inner workings of Congress, explore public service and public policy careers, discuss current events and policy initiatives, and get a close-up look at leadership at its very best by working with and learning from members of Congress.
The need for assistance to pay for college remains critical, as the options for receiving financial support become ever more limited. CBCF scholarships provide funds to academically talented college students who intend to pursue or who are already working full time toward undergraduate, graduate, or doctoral degrees.

Since its inception, the CBCF has awarded scholarships to more than 2,000 students throughout the nation. There are several different scholarships available to sponsor. Supporting the scholarship program places you at the forefront of making a difference in the lives of students across the country who otherwise might not have the opportunity to pursue higher education.

The CBCF awards more than 450 public service, public health, education, and arts scholarships annually to emerging leaders nationwide.

The scope of work for NREI will involve measurable deliverables that shape the foundation of NREI’s establishment, operational trajectory, and research policy deliverables. CBCF will develop and advance a strategic plan, an ambassador taskforce, secure social justice policy fellows and director, identify CBC champions and think tank partners, develop relevant programming, and disseminate research. ESSAY CONTEST AND ISSUE FORUM SPONSORSHIPS

$10,000 – $50,000
(MULTIPLE SPONSORSHIPS AVAILABLE)

DESCRIPTION: Each year, CBCF invites qualified students from the districts of Congressional Black Caucus members to participate in an essay contest and issue forum. Students are presented with a topic that embodies some of our communities’ most pressing issues and are asked to write an essay to defend their research, analyses, and opinions. Submissions are judged by a special committee of CBC spouses, CBCF staff, and other volunteers. Previous essay topics have included bullying, cyberbullying, obesity and healthy living, and increasing the graduation rate among minority high school students. In 2014, CBCF introduced a new technological element to the contest. Students were invited to submit an original written essay or a video essay on the topic to showcase their video production talents. Essay winners and their families are invited to Washington, D.C., in September to receive their prizes and attendee issue forum on the subject during the ALC. Essay contest winners receive airfare and hotel accommodations as well as cash prizes. Prizes are awarded for first-, second- and third-place winners. The winners are traditionally announced in early August. Sponsors are invited to participate in the judging and the presentation of the checks to the essay contest winners.

- Check: Please make all checks payable to “Congressional Black Caucus Foundation, Inc.”
